

Liz Margree

PROFILE

Liz is a theatre maker and performer who specialises in designing and facilitating experiential learning programmes for organisations in the public and private sector. Using cutting edge devised theatre techniques and actor training models, these challenging programmes focus on personal impact, leadership and innovation and offer fresh solutions to old issues. She is co-author of the Learning and Skills Council's INNOVATION FRAMEWORK, designed to help organisations embed innovation into their cultures for sustainable business benefit. She is a founding member of Unlimited Theatre, a national touring, new writing theatre company whose work has been performed in America, Spain, Germany, Zimbabwe, Papua New Guinea and the Philippines. She has a first class degree in Psychology.
